GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

A Banker on Trial

NEW YORK, Aug 21.—The examination of Elijah Alliger, an insurance broker accused of the negotiation of $100,000 of stolen Hannibal & St Joe bonds was continued to-day. There was a large attendance of Wall street brokers. A sensation was caused by Post-office Inspector Barnes preferring another charge against Alliger. In February last the First National bank of Westport, Conn, was robbed of a large amount of securities, among which were $11,000 belonging to [illegible] Sherwood. These were traced to the Third National bank this city, where the inspector alleges that they were hypothecated by Alliger.

The Brewer and Johnson Case Paralleled

NEW YORK, Aug 21.—Max Sevilger, a German, while walking along First avenue this evening, near Forty-ninth street, was seized upon by two men, one of whom seized his arms and the other rifled his pocket-book and seized his watch and chain. They then threw him into a gutter and fled. Sevilger, who was uninjured, gave chase when one of the thieves discharged a revolver at him. The ball missed the object intended and buried itself in the neck of Otto Schwenger, 18 years old, a butcher boy. The young man was taken to the hospital where his injury was pronounced fatal. The thieves escaped.

"The Animals Loose."

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The steers used in the late mock bull fights, broke loose to-night from Central Park arena, at One Hundred and Sixteenth street. Sheriff's officers were in possession of the animals. They ran through the west side of the upper part of the city. The animals are not yet captured. No damage was done.

Settlement by the Code.

NORFOLK, VA., Aug. 21.—There is intense excitement in the city and community over the expected duel between Capt James Barron Hope, editor of the Norfolk Landmark, a distinguished writer and journalist, and Col Wm Lamb, mayor of Norfolk, elector on the readjuster Hancock and English electoral ticket and a politician of note. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of both parties, but thus far they have successfully eluded detection. Col Lamb left this city this afternoon by private conveyance and Capt. Hope cannot be found. If a meeting has not already taken place to-night the duel will be fought early in the morning. The immediate cause was a card published by Lamb, Saturday, characterizing as false a paragraph of an editorial letter written by the editor of the Landmark. Both gentlemen are of acknowledged courage. Col. Lamb commanded Fort Fisher when it fell before Gen. Terry in 1864, and Capt. Hope has a distinguished reputation as a poet and writer.

The Duel Prevented.

NORFOLK, Va., Aug 21.—The duel between Hope and Mayor Lamb was prevented by the arrest of the mayor as he was leaving his house for the place of meeting at 4 o'clock this morning. He was taken before a magistrate and bound over in $20,000 bail to keep the peace. Captain Hope eluded the police and reached the rendezvous. He will return to the city and give a bond to observe the peace.

A Tragic Affair.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug 21.—Edwin C. Mix, Jr., aged thirty-two, was killed to-day by the three Derance brothers, Ferdinand, Armand and Henry, aged twenty-five, twenty and eighteen respectively. The Derances were imprisoned. They declare that Mix had flirted with their young sister. Although warned, he had not desisted, but continued to follow the young lady. Mix, with his brother, Franklin Mix, went to the residence of the Derances to explain the matter, both unarmed. They failed, however, to convince the Derances and when leaving were followed to the street where two of the brothers opened fire upon Edwin C. Mix. He attempted to flee but was shot down, when Henry, the youngest of the Derance brothers, ran up and stabbed him several times with a dirk. Mix leaves a wife and widowed mother. His brother Franklin, who was present at the killing, was on the 20th inst. married to a daughter of the late Rev. Harry L. Hayes. The Derances are the sons of the late Dr. Henry Derance, one of the prominent physicians of this city.

The others are in smaller quantities.

The Question of Chinese Tonnage Dues Considered in the Cabinet

WASHINGTON, Aug 21.—At a cabinet meeting to-day, the question of relieving Chinese merchant vessels arriving at United States ports from discriminating imposts now imposed by law was considered at some length. The members present quite generally favored the removal of heavy tonnage dues and customs duties now levied against Chinese. Secretary Sherman expressed the opinion that the president should do this by issuing a proclamation as he is authorized by law to do and thus relieve the Chinese merchants from those discriminating duties. Attorney General Devens who represented the state department in the cabinet as well as the department of justice was not prepared to express an opinion on the subject and desired time to investigate it fully. Consequently further consideration was postponed until next Tuesday.

Strong opinions were expressed against considering important government measures such as the employers liability and hares and rabbits bills at such a late period of the session. The general feeling was that the house of lords ought not to consent to deal with all bills yet remaining for consideration.

Alsace-Lorraine.

GENEVA Aug 22.—A journal published here entitled the United States of Europe contains a letter from Herr Buehler, a member of the German Parliament to the president of the international league of peace and liberty, and the president's reply thereto. Herr Buehler expresses the idea that in order to dispel distrust of the German people, to insure the preservation of peace, France ought spontaneously to put forth a manifesto pronouncing clearly in favor of peace. The president replies that France cannot thus ratify the conquest of Alsace-Lorraine, and moreover that such declaration on her part would be null in effect, because Alsace-Lorraine itself should be asked whether she desires to be German, French or autonomous. France and Germany ought to agree to accept her answer to this question as decisive. The president advises Herr Buehler to recommend this course to Prince Bismarck.

Grievances of the Church of Rome.

ROME Aug 20.—In the consistory to-day the pope pronounced his allocution. After enumerating the grievances of the church in Belgium, his holiness declared that he was quite prepared to suffer personal insult in behalf of the holy see, but would never allow the apostolic dignity of the papacy to be insulted, even though its defense might cost him his life. He said that injuries to the church were not limited to Belgium. On a future occasion he would refer to some other circumstances which were a source of sorrow and anguish to the church.

Eastern Affairs

VIENNA Aug. 21.—A telegram from Belgrade reports, that since Prince Milan's journey to Ischl the resignation of M Ristic's cabinet, has become inevitable and that henceforth adhesion of Servia in a military sense to the Austro-German alliance, is looked upon as settled. It is supposed, moreover, that the new cabinet would meet with certain readiness on the part of Austria to agree to a treaty of commerce, which M Ristic appealed in vain to Austria to conclude, and which would incline Servia still toward Austro German alliance.

LONDON Aug 21.—The News understands that although Mr Forster's visit to Ireland was undertaken for the purpose of inquiring into the condition of the country, the government has no reason to believe that the necessity exists, or is likely to arise for any exceptional legislation. Official reports do not indicate the probability of a material increase of agrarian crime.

ST PETERSBURG Aug 21.—There is no doubt that Abdurahman Khan's assistance to Ayoob Khan had not been withdrawn at the time of the recent British defeat. It is learned from a good source that Russia has ordered communication to be made to Abdurrahman Khan advising him on no account to interfere with the English withdrawal from Cabul. If he does not observe these counsels he will forfeit the sympathy and good opinion of Russia.

ARRAIGNMENT OF W. H. ENGLISH

And the Democratic Party—Some Facts Which Don't Tally with the Statements of Stump Orators

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Aug 21.—The Nation will publish to-morrow an appeal to workingmen. It says: "When William H English, national banker, bondholder, mortgage dealer and candidate for the vice presidency, is served with a slip of paper into the house of a mortgagee and turns him and his wife with her children into the streets, robs it of every household treasure set there by the hand of affection and to the husband who has seen his wife suffer and his children born under that roof who has [illegible] built up his altars and kept their fires alight, says 'Go, this is mine, the law gives me all this,' what does the law do to him? what does public opinion do to him? what does the party which claims to be pre-eminently the poor man's friend do to him? Public opinion formed of poor men whom he has robbed execrates him as the genius of cold and implacable money getting as hard as his coin and as narrow as his bank notes. The party which clamors for man's gratitude beholds in him a fitting exponent of their legislative creed and asks for him the suffrages of the men he has robbed in the past as they mean to rob others in the future. Public opinion, in the form of an outraged and betrayed people will forever put a quietus on this wholesale robber, this cold oppressor of helpless poverty, this panderer to future debauchery and crime. Workingmen whose votes set in the destiny of the nation and the people, will you cast those votes for a man from whose hands drip the sweat of thousands of ruined men and whose bank notes are wet with tears of homeless women? Will you cast your votes for a party who, from selling black flesh on an auction block, have come to selling white flesh on every thoroughfare of the nation? Will you vote for a whited sepulchre who in the false semblance of honor, sits in his iron bound chamber and threatens you with law should you dare speak of his crimes? The principles of the democratic party are fittingly illustrated in W H English, and he in turn is the democratic party in epitome. They are joined to their idols, let them alone."

THE CHICAGO CONCLAVE.

Appointment of Officers—San Francisco Wins on the Final Vote.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CHICAGO Aug 21.—The following officers of Knights Templar were appointed to-day: Sir Rev Clinton Lock, of Illinois, V E G Pre; Sir H P Graves, of California, V E G Sir B; Sir H B Stoddard of Texas V E G Sir B; Sir J B Boyden, of New Jersey, V E G W; Sir S E Sheldon, of Kansas, V E G C G. The decision to hold the next triennial conclave in San Francisco was reached without much dissent. St Louis, Cincinnati and New York were candidates for the honor, but when the report of the committee on location was made, the only objection was made by a New York knight, who moved to substitute New York for San Francisco. This being promptly voted down the report was accepted with special unanimity, making San Francisco the place for the next conclave.

It is stated that the Californians made two propositions to the knights. The first was that California commanderies would make such arrangements that round trip tickets should cost every knight not over $20. The second proposition was that the Californians would pay all the fares between Omaha and San Francisco, both coming and going. It is stated by the coast delegation that no positive agreement has been made, but the arrangements will be private and satisfactory to all parties. Col Wm Harney, of San Francisco, says that the chief difficulty was to combat a growing inclination to make Washington City the headquarters and meeting for all future conclaves. That the California people were able to overcome this plan was creditable alike to their diplomatic skill and generosity. One gentleman alone is said to have agreed to raise a million dollars in California if the conclave would hold its session in San Francisco. The Kentucky commanderies in acknowledgement of the profuse hospitality of the knights from San Francisco during their stay here, presented them with a silver cask of choice old bourbon whisky.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

MEMPHIS, Aug 22.—From passengers who arrived this morning, the following particulars are gained of a riot which occurred yesterday at Coffeyville, Miss., the county seat of Yallabusha county, sixteen miles north of Grenada, on the St Louis Chicago, New Orleans railroad. A special election is to be held next Tuesday to fill a vacancy for sheriff over which there was a contest at the last general election. The democrats and greenbackers have a ticket in the field. On Saturday both parties held a ratification meeting at Coffeyville and each raised a pole. The democrats had a brass band from Grenada, and after the pole raising, marched through the streets. While passing a corner a difficulty occurred between a negro named Spearman who was in the democratic procession and R V Pearson, the greenback candidate for sheriff, which resulted in Pearson's shooting Spearman, killing him instantly. This was the signal for a general melee and a volley of shots was opened upon Pearson, who was shot three times, from the effects of which he died last night. Two whitemen, [illegible] and [illegible], friends of Pearson, were wounded. For a time a perfect pandemonium reigned.

HISTORICAL DIAMONDS.

Some of the Most Celebrated Gems in the World.

[From Fraser's Magazine.]

All the great historical diamonds of the world own an Indian origin. The Rajah of Mattan's great jewel was, it is true, found in Borneo, but its existence has hitherto been passed in the Oriental seclusion befitting its mystical character, not amid the glare and bustle of western politics. The "Braganza" has continued since 1741, when it was discovered in a Brazilian mine in the possession of the Portuguese crown and is still as zealously guarded from vulgar inspection as a beauty of the harem. This suspicious privacy, together with its extraordinary weight of 1680 carats, induces a general belief that the stone is not a diamond, but a white topaz. Its value if genuine would amount, according to the usual mode of calculation, to the fabulous sum of £58,350,000! As far as mere size is concerned the "Stewart," from the South African diggings, is entitled to a foremost place among celebrated diamonds, but the jewels with the human interest of a story attaching to them—the "Orloff," the "Florentine," the "Regent"

THE "KOH-I-NOOR."

The "Sancy"—hail from the banks of the Kistna, or the mines of Raolconda or Bundelcund. Two of these the Koh-i-noor and the Orloff, have singularly shared the vicissitudes of successive dynasties and by their present position among the crown jewels—the one of England, and the other of Russia—seem to symbolize the division of the sceptre of the east between these two great powers. These twin stones are believed to be the fragments of a mighty crystal of 793 carats of which the tradition has been preserved by Tavernier, a French jeweller, who made a professional tour in the east in the time of the Grand Monarque. Their earliest history is, as may readily be imagined, obscure. Conjecture, based upon their shape and size, makes them glitter for ages as the eyes of some monstrous idol in a Brahminical temple. History meets the capture of Agra and the overthrow of the native prince of Golconda, when they fell by separate caprices of fortune into the hands of the conquering Mogul dynasty. Baber exulted in the possession of the Koh-i-noor, and in his reminiscences estimates its value as equal to that of half the daily sustenance of the entire world. The same stone was seen by Tavernier in the treasury of Aurungzebe and its companion was shortly afterward extorted by that undutiful son from the possession of his captive father, Shah Jehan. They next appear as the spoil of Nadir Shah in 1373 and were in all likelihood

STARVING SIOUX SURRENDERING.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The whole affair of the surrender of the hostile Sioux Indians who went into Canada now taking place at Fort Keogh, Montana, was not unexpected, and the policy of the government with reference thereto was decided upon long before the Indians began to make their appearance. Orders were sent to the department commander to permit the return of all Indians willing to surrender unconditionally and submit themselves and their property to the disposition of this government. The Sioux and other Indians coming into Fort Keogh come virtually as prisoners of war. They will be promptly disarmed and dismounted. Their arms and ponies will be sold and the proceeds turned into provisions for their temporary subsistence. Eventually they will be turned over to the Interior department and transported to some point on the west side of the Missouri river and as far south as possible where they will be placed on a reservation and [illegible] by such means of [illegible] as may be found necessary. The war department does not understand that 1800 or more Indians who have surrendered or are on their way to surrender at Fort Keogh have any other than merely nominal connection with Sitting Bull. They went north at the same time he did, but have never been to any extent under his personal control and the movements and intentions of that chief are regarded by the department with indifference. If he chooses to come in and surrender well and good; if not he must stay on the Canadian side of the line. The general of the army does not think Sitting Bull exercises or has exercised any important influence over the Indians, from their appearance in such large numbers at the agency. Troops in the vicinity are fully able to check any hostile movement which might take place and disorderly conduct reported is regarded by the war department as natural lawlessness and turbulence of savages coming in such large numbers, but without hostile intentions.

THE TWO OREGON NAVIGATION COMPANIES

Orders for an Examination of the Books and for Commissions to Take Evidence.

[N. Y. World, Aug 11.]

In the suit begun in the supreme court by Erwin and others against the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company, the Oregon Steam Navigation Company and the Farmers Loan and Trust Company, Judge Donohue yesterday granted two motions made by plaintiffs, one for the discovery of certain facts in the books and papers of the principal defendant and the other for oral commission for the examination of witnesses in Oregon and elsewhere. The action is brought for the appointment of a receiver and to set aside a certain conveyance. The complaint states that in 1873 the $5,000,000 stock of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company was very valuable; that the Northern Pacific Railroad Company held a controlling interest, and that when Jay Cooke & Co., failed in September of that year $4,750,000 of the stock held by them as collateral went to their trustees in bankruptcy, and this greatly depreciated the stock though its real value had not lessened. Henry Villard and others bought up a large amount of this depreciated stock at a low price and obtaining a controlling interest formed according to the plaintiffs the scheme of organizing a new company and turning over the property to that company. The Oregon Railway and Navigation Company was thereupon formed with the appearance of having greater powers rights and property, and to issue stock and securities greater in amount than the Oregon Steam Navigation Company for the benefit of the promoters of the scheme. The plaintiffs ask to have the sale set aside of all the property of the old company to the new for the pretended sum of $2,300,000 which, it is asserted was not in fact paid and also to have a mortgage made to the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co declared void. Judge Donohue in granting the motion for a commission to be executed with oral interrogatories, says: "The plaintiffs set up a case of gross frauds and the answering defendant by answering evidently admits that if the plaintiffs can prove their case they have a cause of action. On the issue thus formed and on the default of others as claimed, the plaintiffs ask to examine witnesses (all of whom it is apparent are not friendly to plaintiffs' case) on oral questions. It seems to me that no other examinations could be of use to plaintiffs and that they should have the right." As to the motion for discovery, Judge Donohue says the facts stated in its support are similar to those upon the other motion. "The case on the issues and allegations seems to me one entitling the plaintiffs to the relief asked for, there being no other way of getting at the facts on which the plaintiffs rights depend." Butler, Stillman & Hubbard for the motions, A. H Holmes opposed.

UNACCEPTED CHALLENGE.

The New York Times reminds its readers that "about a year ago Senator Windom, from his place in the senate, publicly challenged the senators on the democratic side of the chamber to name a single republican officer whom the thirty three investigating committees have proved to have stolen one dollar from the government. This challenge has never been answered. It remains open, and without any juggle of the words, and it ought to be answered now if the democrats have not lost every particle of faith in the truth of their assertions."

In commenting upon this unaccepted challenge, the Times further says:

It is undeniable that in the expenditure of vast sums during the rebellion, there was waste, even fraud. But, compared with the losses incurred by the government in paying times of peace, when the disbursements of the government were light, those losses were insignificant. For example, the last democratic secretary of the interior, Jacob Thompson, is to this day a defaulter to the amount of $871,000, never accounted for. What officer of the government under a republican administration, was ever accused of any such theft as this? Isaac V Fowler, a democratic postmaster of the city of New York, was a defaulter in the sum of $170,947 and Samuel Swartwout, from whose crimes we derive a word of infamy, and who was a democratic collector of the port of New York, ran away owing the government $1,205,030. Then again, R P Hammond, another democratic office holder, never accounted for $372,122 of the public funds which he misused while collector of the port of San Francisco. Leaving out all amounts less than $10,000, the defalcations and thefts suffered from 1850 to 1861 when the democrats were in power footed up $6,8[illegible]1,302, and the list of defaulting custodians of public funds during the democratic days shows a total loss of $1,218,619, making a grand total of more than $10,000,000 to be charged to the account of democratic official corruption, theft and incompetency in thirty years. And this is the party that rants and raves about the dishonesty of republicans in office.

C. AUBRAY ANGELO.

A late issue of the Victoria Colonist contains the following particulars of the shocking death of C Aubray Angelo who is not unknown to old Portlanders.

All old Victorians will remember C Aubray Angelo, who in 1858, was deputy collector of the port and who served a year in gaol for malfeasance. Upon obtaining his liberty he went to Portland where he published a book. Thence he drifted back to the states and subsequently to England where, being a ready and able writer he obtained employment on the London press. He acted as correspondent during the Prusso-Franco war, and when King Cetewayo showed his teeth was dispatched to Zululand as special for the Liverpool Post. He was with the British forces when the prince imperial was killed and accompanied the party that found the unfortunate youth's body in the fatal field. A few months ago he was dispatched in the interest of the Post to write up the western states and on the evening of the 21st when near Laramie City, he attempted to board a train while in motion and fell beneath the wheels which crushed his legs. The outer pier of the Port Orford Cedar Company's wharf has been in a great measure destroyed by a voracious sea worm.

A new vessel, 137-foot keel, 37 foot beam and 11-foot hold, has been commenced at North Bend, one of almost equal size will be launched at Marshfield in a few weeks.

A deposit of stone coal has been discovered 18 miles from Roseburg. Specimens tried by blacksmiths have been pronounced equal to Cumberland coal. The quantity is said to be unlimited.

M. S Booth has retired from the board of trustees of the territorial asylum.

The Thurston county republican convention, will meet at Olympia on Saturday the 28th inst.

The North Pacific surveying party under Mr D D Clark, have returned to New Tacoma from the Cowlitz pass.

Very low tides prevailed at Olympia last week, affording opportunity for catching large clams. These are taken, weighing from five to eight pounds each and are readily sold for 25 cents apiece.

A stick was cut in the Tacoma mill last week to put in the ship Dashing Wave that is 120 feet long and 24x14 inches in thickness. This ship is receiving a thorough overhauling in the dock at Tacoma.

Thurston county will be taxed as follows for the year 1880: County tax, 10 mills; school tax 4 mills, territorial tax 3 mills, road tax, 3 mills, a poll tax of $2 and a poll road tax of $4 on each male inhabitant between the ages of 21 and 50 years.

Mrs. Howard of Olympia, has a contract to furnish five tons of dried potatoes to the Tacoma Mill Company, who make them a part of the outfit of their ships on long voyages. She has two Plummer dryers at work on them and will make the enterprise profitable.

On the 9th of this month Mr E. S Tanner who resided in Attanum valley was drowned in the Nachess river. He had a large crop of grain just ripening and his family had no one left to harvest but his neighbors turned out almost unanimously and cut and stacked the whole crop in a very short time, over fifty men working, refusing all reward except the thanks of the widow and orphans of the man they all esteemed very highly. Mr Tanner was for many years a resident of Oregon and was a member of the territorial legislature in 185-.

Intelligencer: The new farm of Mr. Ackerson, in Puyallup valley, will soon be among the most valuable and productive in the territory. It contains 364 acres. Last October it was all in the woods. Now one hundred acres are cleared, and two weeks ago he had forty men engaged in this kind of work. He has eight hundred fruit trees out, has cut seventy tons of hay this season, and will have several hundred tons of roots. He has also built a very fine barn, and will have some of the best stock in the country on his place.

SOUTHERN CENSUS FRAUDS.

CHICAGO, Aug, 14.—The Tribune's Washington special respecting southern census frauds says: The editor of the Washington Republican who was banished from South Carolina on account of his republicanism and who is familiar with every county in the State, in analyzing the returns from counties which show an increase, says: Take, for instance, the county of Kershaw. Its increase from 1870 to 1880 is 9727, or 80 per cent in ten years. Only one railroad touches this county, and that until lately ran one passenger coach every other day. There is no factory or mine in the county. It is purely agricultural in its industries, and its largest town, Camden, a place of about 1000 inhabitants, half of them white. It is perhaps the sleepiest place on the continent. The growth of the county in the past fifty years has been backward instead of forward. In 1839 it contained 13,545 persons and 1870 forty years after it had but 11,754—a loss of 1791. But from 1870 to 1880 it springs to 21,181. If these figures do not excite General Walker's suspicions, they will certainly excite those of the country. We would like to rest our case upon Kershaw county. If General Walker will furnish the men and means we will undertake to prove that the census in Kershaw is a bold fraud within ten days. If this was a western state this phenomenal increase could easily be explained by the influx of emigrants from the older states and from abroad but in South Carolina no such explanations are applicable. There are not, probably, 1000 more foreigners in the state than there were in 1860, and she has lost more than than she has gained by the movement of her native population.

NOTES FROM THE DALLES

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

Business men complain of a dull trade this month.

The Masons are erecting a fine two-story brick opposite the court house on Court street.

Our city has been without resident ministers for the past [illegible] and sorely [illegible] have suffered therefrom.

Two construction trains with a large gang of men are kept busy shifting in around the company works on the island.

Owing to the heavy freighting up the river the boats from Portland have been very late getting in. This causes great inconvenience in regard to mail matters.

There is a great deal of building improvement going on here just now. Four two story bricks are in course of construction, and one or two have just been completed.

Work in the O. R. & N. Co's shops is being pushed as rapidly as possible. Every department is running a full force and as soon as possible facilities will be greatly increased, as they are sorely cramped for room.

Mr. G. H. Holbrook, of the well known drug firm of Dunham & Holbrook, a young gentleman highly esteemed in this city led to the altar Miss Florence E Lister, on Sunday, the 22d. The parties are widely known, and this "new departure" is somewhat of a surprise.

Col Lane of our city met with a painful and almost serious accident one day last week. He was sitting with an open jack knife in his hand, when he fell forward in a faint. The blade pierced his cheek near the ear causing a cut which passed around the face just below the eye bone deep. It was a wonderful escape and though somewhat painful, is of no serious nature.

HUNTING HOSTILES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO THE OREGONIAN.]

SCOUTS' CAMP SLATE CREEK, I. T., Aug 8 1880.

Lieut. Farrow's scouting column is camped to-night on the head of Slate creek, about 90 miles southeast of Fort Lapwai. To-morrow morning Lieut Farrow will send a detachment of six men to Payette Falls to establish a supply depot while with his main command he will scout the unknown country to the north of Salmon river, and expects to find some hostiles near the mouth of the Middle Fork. The country is very rough, and as soon as our small stock of bacon and hardtack is exhausted we expect to live on what fish and game we can secure. The water up here is also very nourishing. We struck a band of quail yesterday, and every one of them were shot in the head, according to the unwritten law of this command. We also surprised and surrounded a patch of wild strawberries and in a few minutes not one of them was left to tell the tale. We may be able to say the same thing of a band of Indians inside of a week.

For the next six weeks it may be impossible for us to have any communication with the outside world, as we are going up among the tall timber to the north, where we can see considerable snow from the camp.

REDINGTON.

One Whose Fame Has Gone Forth.

[From the New York Times, Aug 9.]

The last case of official delinquency is reported in Oregon, where a democratic secretary of state has been convicted of auditing false accounts and drawing illegal warrants upon the treasury to the amount of $12,877. Chadwick, the delinquent officer, will be remembered as the serviceable tool of the conspirators who attempted to steal the Oregon electoral vote in 1876. He was also Gov Grover's assistant, friend and backer in that worthy's successful fight for the United States senatorship. The suit of the State against Chadwick who went out of office in 1878, was referred to United States district judge Deady, who has just decided against the secretary of state. As Chadwick's "shortage" exceeds the amount of his official bonds, the state will lose by the manipulations of the gentleman who profoundly believed that "reform is necessary in high places."

MONDAY MORNING AUG 2[illegible] 1880

THE AMERICAN METHOD

[illegible] last year exported more than [illegible] of cotton goods. No small [illegible] of these goods came to the United States. This country produced [illegible] of the material of which the goods were made, paid the cost of transporting it to England and bringing it back, besides a profit to the English manufacturers. With the most wonderful wealth producing resources of any ~~nation in the world the~~ United States at the age of one hundred years ought to have been the richest land in the world but the money has flowed out as fast as it was made to other nations and but a few millions only ever accummulated in this country. The American people are great traders but sorry hoarders with their money. We talk of the great balances held at times in the United States treasury but the Bank of England alone has greater sums on hand while the numerous other centers of capital in Europe hold proportionately large amounts. When an emergency for important sums arises in this country either to build railroads or carry on a war our interest bearing bonds are sent to Europe and the profits on all classes of business for years after are drawn out of the country to pay the interest on these bonds. True, of late years the exports from the United States have shown an encouraging increase in value, but there have been exceptional years both as to good crops here and remunerative markets abroad. Should our crops meet with a partial failure or should prices for the few commodities which are produced at all extensively in this country for export rule low on any account it would require a practice of economy more general among our people than they have been accustomed to for years if a monetary stringency of the most pressing character should be avoided. Oregon is especially liable to suffer from the causes named owing to the great amount of her imports and the heavy costs of transportation which she is compelled to pay on all that she sends out and brings in and to the fact that she owns none of the ships which carry her products but every dollar she pays in the way of transoceanic freights is gone forever or until by hard toil our people produce something more to sell upon which they have more to pay in the way of freights. With the desire for wealth and [illegible] which is felt by all and the eagerness with which the American people enter upon every project for making money they are more careless in saving it than any other people in the world. They will trade no matter whether there is any profit in it or not. They believe in keeping their money in circulation and carry their belief to an extreme. Though here and there we find men who skimp themselves in order to hoard their gains the misers are the exception and the spendthrifts and speculators the rule. As a general thing they all live up to their means and too many of them above. In our own state it would be considered a great hardship for the people if they had to return to the primitive style of living practiced by some of the pioneers in this country when a venison ham and a sack of flour constituted the contents of the larder in some of the first families and yet as we heard an extensive grain merchant remark a few days ago, the people may have to go back to those more economical, if less pleasant methods again, if we continue to buy so much abroad and to produce a surplus of only one or two commodities, the prices for which may possibly go so low that their exportation would entail a loss on the cost of producing and shipping. The United States may have a bread producing capacity to feed the world, but if the rest of the world produces half of their own bread requirements, America must devote attention to produce something else that the other nations want and which they will take in pay for the articles which this country imports. There was, a few years ago much complaint about the falling off of imports into this country and it was a bad symptom, it indicated a scarcity of money and a necessity which was unpleasant to be under but the causes which produced the necessity, also had one good effect: they impressed a lesson of economy upon the people, the practice of which remedied the evil and put the country into a position to make the wonderful strides in her commercial relations which have been made since. Could the same methods of economy be practiced when times are good, when prices for our products are high and our surplus large, that are enforced in seasons of financial stress an increase of wealth would be gained which would make this nation in course of time the richest people in the world. But the people do not work on this plan yet, though as the country grows old the methods under which Great Britain and Germany have become the capitalists of the world will come in vogue. 'Twere better if this method were inaugurated before the resources of the country have been too nearly exhausted and we have too little wealth producing power.

Last year this country exported over $800,000,000 worth of merchandise, for which it received fair prices. With perhaps the exception of cotton and petroleum the prices paid us for other products were better than usual. At the same time we were able to buy $600,000,000 worth of merchandise from other countries a large part of which we got at great bargains. It will be a long time before we can do so well again. Although England paid a large proportion of the $800 000 000 it is estimated that there is now in London, waiting for safe and profitable investment, $1,000,000,000 or twice the usual unemployed capital of the city. The abundance of money has forced up the price of good investment securities and a 4 per cent stock, well secured, is practically unattainable. The American method will never allow such vast sums to accumulate in this country.

FREIGHT DISCRIMINATIONS

The question of discrimination in freight charges is brought prominently before the business men of San Francisco. The members of the board of trade have been discussing the best means of gaining the trade of Mexico and Central America and the fact has been incidentally brought out that it is impossible to accomplish anything unless there is a revision of the freight tariff on the railroads and steamships that are owned or controlled by men who live in California and who thus stand in their own light by the discriminations. The Pacific Mail Company now bring goods from New York carry them across the Isthmus reshipping them to Guatemala [illegible] less than is charged to carry them direct from San Francisco to that country. They charge more for the shorter journey than for the longer one. The same tactics characterize the railroad management so that the [illegible] coast is deprived of the advantages [illegible] they ought to enjoy on account of [illegible] position. The merchants of San Francisco have concluded to memorialize [illegible] the transportation lines and to ask for an alteration of the freight tariffs as will enable them to compete with eastern merchants for the trade of the south [illegible] America. Whether it will be [illegible] the [illegible] work will be [illegible] this opening a [illegible] rival [illegible] [illegible] in that direction will be most desirable and profitable.

INDEFATIGABLE WORK

A candidate for congress from a Louisiana district named Acklin, has written a letter to another democrat in which he says:

The district you know has a republican majority of nearly five thousand, and can only be carried by the most indefatigable work. Yet this district is carried all the same notwithstanding its five thousand republican majority. The indefatigable work is done mainly by the rifle clubs and by ballot box stuffers not only in Acklin's district, but in several other districts in the southern states. The figures below taken from the official records show what indefatigable work will do particularly if armed and masked.

The vote of South Carolina in 187[illegible] was [illegible] 290 republican and 3[illegible] 885 democratic. The majority given to General Grant was 49 [illegible]8. In 1876 President Hayes was given a majority of just 890 and in 1878 the republicans did not dare nominate a candidate against Wade Hampton and only thirty six republican votes were cast in the state on the state ticket. Population by the last census 289 667 white and 415 814 colored. Legislature democrats 150 republicans 8.

In Mississippi in 1872 Grant's majority was 34 887. In 1876 this was entirely wiped out and a majority of 59 578 given to Tilden. The republican vote has dwindled from 82 175 in 1872 to 1168 in 1877. The population by the last census was 382 896 white and 444 201 colored. The present legislature contains 144 democrats and 6 republicans.

In Alabama Grant's majority in 1872 was 10 828. Tilden's majority in 1876 was 33 772 and at the last state election the republicans as in South Carolina did not dare to nominate a state ticket. The population in 1870 was 521 284 white and 475 510 colored. The present legislature contains 128 democrats and 3 republicans.

In Louisiana the republican vote in 1872 was 71 672 but in 1879 it had dwindled to 26 611. The republican majority of 14 634 in 1872 has changed to a democratic majority of 27 222 in 1879. The census returns of 1870 show 372 066 whites and 364 210 colored. The legislature stands 107 democrats and 22 republicans.

A royal decree has been issued by the Spanish king intimating that in case a son is born to his queen the youngster will take the title of the Prince of Asturias but in case a daughter is born, she will be known as the Infanta of Spain. The liberal press comment severely on the decree, for in case a daughter is born and the king should die without further issue, serious complications would arise, as the Infanta under the decree would only have the third place in the right of accession to the throne.

The Italian police have broken up a society at Rome called the "association of malefactors" which had accumulated 8 000 000 francs by burglary and forgery, the members living in lordly fashion on the division of the spoils. It was this society that committed the theft on the national bank, Syracuse and issued false shares of the public consuls. One of its members was taken up as he was laughingly talking with the prefect about the society.

A SOLDIER'S STATEMENT.

McMINNVILLE, Aug 17 1880

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In regard to the statement that "Hancock will get a large soldier vote" I wish to say a few words having been one of the "soldiers."

During the administration preceding that of Hayes a great many republicans were dissatisfied. Corruption was charged on the leaders of the party and was believed by many. Independent movements were started in every section of the country. Very few republicans voted the straight ticket. The kuklux and bulldozing stories had become stale and were not believed or went unheeded, and to cap the climax at every turn of the democratic wheel apparently a new programme was presented, at every convention a new platform—platforms best suited to catch the disaffected republicans, platforms calling loudly for "reform," "down with the bloody shirt," "sectional strife," &c, until many very many even of the old soldiers thought they were sincere in their desire for peace and many of us voted the split ticket until we had succeeded in putting the vice-president of the southern confederacy three members of its cabinet, its highest military officer living two of its best lieutenant generals, and scores of minor generals in the capitol at Washington. Only Jeff Davis was lacking. Seventy-six democratic majority in congress, and the senate sure next session. Then the southern speakers and papers began to belch forth the true policy and intent of the party. Here is a specimen:

"Yes, thank God! We have captured the capitol and in 1880 our man will walk up the White House steps and take his seat in the presidential chair.

Then will our glorious triumph be complete!

Then will we proceed to tear your amendments from the constitution and trample them in the mire!

Then will we recognize the right of secession—a right that is not dead, but sleeping!

Then will we decorate the capitol with the pictures of Davis, Lee, Stuart and all the leaders of a cause that is not lost, but living still!

Yes thank God! we have the capitol."

States rights and bold secession speeches were made in various parts of the south and one of the many rebel brigadiers (Blackburn) in congress, in a carefully prepared speech said:

"We do not intend to stop until we have wiped the last vestige of your war measures from the statute book."

Whereupon the paper above quoted said: "Down with the devil born amendments. Down with the pictures of Lincoln and the scoundrels who surrounded him in the battle days of '61–65. Down with every anti-democratic idea and idol!

These be the watchwords of 1880."

"Well, yes. It is revolution and no mistake. The first have become last and the last first."

The federal brigadiers have been collared and jammed into back seats, and the confederates to the fore. But this is only the beginning. Wait!

We are knocking the props from under your amendments. Wait!

When the revolution has run its course there will be never a law nor a statute in the land that will conflict with states rights the principle of secession or white supremacy."

The same rebel yell went up all over the south. That same paper was endorsed south and north. This was only a few months ago.

Then the scales of time fell from our eyes when the same bloody shirt that they had asked us to forget was flung into our faces, while asleep on duty. But we awakened and lived again the farewell to home and loved ones the long weary marches the hard fought battles and captures the prison pens with their dead line, their putrid food, lice and maggots, the escapes through briery and stony paths dabbled with blood. And we had a resurrection. We went on guard no more independent movements. Our gallant commander filed a veto and another and another and many of the [illegible] filed vetoes against the return of many of these democratic congressmen. Not so with the solid south, they send their brigadiers every time. The choice of Hancock for a leader is only a change in the head line, the body of the programme is the same as it always has been—states' rights. States rights is secession whether it is championed by Hancock or Jeff Davis and Hancock being the breastwork for that doctrine—so much the worse for Hancock. We are going to show that way for they have not surrendered. They have only muffled their cannon wheels and rolled them in behind him. But he is too thin. We will not trust them but will hereafter be considered as those who have [illegible] [illegible] that they have fallen [illegible] bad company.

OFFICE OF THE

PACIFIC MUTUAL

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF CALIFORNIA.

SACRAMENTO, July 1st 1880

To all Desirous of Securing the Benefits of Life Insurance:

The first consideration with applicants for life insurance is, or at least should be, SAFETY. Will the Money Paid out for the Policy be Prudently Invested? Are the Affairs of the Company Honestly and Efficiently Administered? When the Policy Becomes a Claim, will it be Promptly Paid, and thus the object which induced the payment of the premiums be fully attained? These are queries naturally suggested, and the character of the answers determines the course of the questioner and the selection of his Company.

In this connection, the Managers of the PACIFIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY respectfully beg leave to submit the following facts and statements concerning their Company:

1. Since its organization A D 1868 it has paid 533 death losses on policies amounting in the aggregate to $9[illegible]2,975.

2. It has Paid to Policy Holders, for Matured Endowments, Dividends, and Surrender Values, in Round Numbers, $1,000,000.

3. Its losses have been paid Promptly and without Litigation. No judgment arising from a Policy claim has ever been rendered against it and it has no suits of this character pending.

4. It has repeatedly been examined by Sworn Experts, and most thorough and searching investigations made of its condition and business, and IN EVERY CASE its Solvency and Trustworthiness have been Demonstrated.

5. Its Stockholders and Directors are widely known as among the most capable business men and ablest financiers of the State of California and the integrity of their management is unquestioned.

6. The laws of the State including the constitutional provisions affecting corporations are of the most rigid character such as to make the Company one of the safest institutions of its kind.

SEC 3. Each stockholder of a corporation or joint stock association shall be individually and personally liable for such proportion of all its debts and liabilities contracted or incurred during the time he was a stockholder as the amount of stock or shares owned by him bears to the whole of the subscribed capital stock or shares of the corporation or association. The Directors or Trustees of corporations and joint stock associations shall be jointly and severally liable to the creditors and stockholders for all moneys embezzled or misappropriated by the officers of such corporation or joint stock association during the term of office of such Director or Trustee.

7. Its policy contracts contain no restrictions upon residence or travel and its forms of insurance are unusually attractive. The Low Rate Deposit Endowment, and Mutual Investment Policies are peculiar to this Company and offer advantages to the insured which are not surpassed if equaled by those of any other Company.

8. When desired Policies can be registered by the Insurance Commissioners of California on the payment of a moderate fee and a policy holder in the PACIFIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY of California has then the absolute guarantee of the State of California that the money held by this Company against the contingency of his death is secured by bonds and mortgages deposited in the State Treasury. With December 31st 1879 the Company closed its eleventh year, and in so doing affords the only instance on record in which a life insurance company in the eleventh year of its existence was enabled to pay its death losses from interest receipts; not only was this done but in addition thereto a considerable surplus remained.

Believing ourselves entitled to the confidence and business of such as propose affecting insurance upon human life we solicit their patronage and pledge ourselves to discharge to the best of our ability the important and sacred trust devolved upon us.

CITY.

A SHOCKING DEATH.—A harvest hand named Fallman employed by a farmer residing near Oregon City met with a frightful death Saturday afternoon The following are the circumstances of this very shocking affair Fallman it appears was engaged in driving a reaper when the team became frightened at some object and started off at a high speed at rapid pace. He did everything in his power to check the speed of the frightened animals but to no purpose After running a short distance the team made a sudden turn and Fallman was thrown from his seat falling directly in front of the sickle In an instant he was caught between the fenders and both legs cut nearly in twain Assistance was rendered with all possible dispatch but the great loss of blood and shock to the nervous system was too much for the unfortunate man. He died soon after the accident It is not known whether Fallman leaves a family or not.

E P STREET IMPROVEMENTS—The committee on streets and public property in East Portland has awarded the contract for the construction of a bridge on J street between Tenth and Sixth also for the improvement of portions of Seventh Tenth and Jefferson streets Stephens addition by grading full width and graveling a roadway 16 feet wide on Dupont by grading full width from Fourth to Tenth and twenty feet width from Tenth to Sixteenth with 18 foot gravel the entire length For the construction of a bridge on J street, the contract was awarded to Moore, Spore & Owens for $3141 50 On D street Thos Tarnoull received the contract for the woodwork and grading and H C Carmack and Hand for the graveling H C Carmack secured the contract for the grading on Seventh, Tenth and Jefferson streets and M Temey for the gravel

SPLENDID WHEAT—Mr Barger an old subscriber of THE OREGONIAN (for over 20 years) formerly residing near Salem, but now living in the "Swale" in the Klickitat valley, sends us the "Swale" a fine sample of his grain of this season's crop In favorable seasons, Mr B's crop upon a 10-acre tract near his house has averaged 60 bushels to the acre (thresher's count) of what is admitted as the finest quality of wheat grown in that section, commanding a higher price right at home and eagerly sought by the farmers for seed It was originally obtained from a single remarkably fine looking stalk which he accidentally found growing near his house. He has since, by adopting the plan of selecting only the finest grains for seed, maintained and even improved upon the original stock, hence in favorable years the heads have averaged over six inches in length.

SURPRISE PARTY AT ILWACO — Daro Ort writing from Ilwaco, reports that the principal social event of last week was a surprise party on the 18th, celebrating the fortieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr and Mrs B Holman. Mrs. D P Thompson, Mrs E J Northrop and Mrs L W Gilliland were the principal movers in the enterprise supplying cake and other refreshments in abundance The Holman cottage was surprised and "taken by storm" and the evening devoted to congratulations and social pastimes and music. The entire population of Ilwaco—residents and summer visitors—joined in the party

NEW FERRY BOATS.—The new ferryboat of Knot Bros is progressing rapidly toward completion. The machinery is being put in and the paint work commenced The new one being built by Moore & Foster for the Vancouver ferry route will be finished in about thirty days, and is expected to be the finest craft of the kind in this part of the country Her finishing will be of the finest and the cabin similar to that of the Veto Her length is 90 feet and beam 24 Cylinders of four foot stroke and twelve inch bore will propel her through the water at a rate not exceeded by any other boat in her line.

BONES EXHUMED.—A huge tooth, evidently belonging to some long extinct race of animals has been brought to this office by Mr Winter. This mammoth molar, together with other portions of the frame—the lower jaw several fragments of ribs and a tusk or horn about seven feet long—were exhumed last Thursday by Ed Parrish in Clackamas county, near Graham's ferry The bones were found within seven feet of the surface. Considering the many centuries they have laid under ground the bones are in a very good state of preservation

ASSUMES THE DUTIES.—Last Friday, Mr F Shurtleff received from Washington his commission as collector of customs for the port of Portland. All preliminaries have been settled, and Mr. John Kelly the retiring collector will formally turn over the office books, papers, records, etc to his successor today The statement has been made by a contemporary, that Mr. Shurtleff would not take possession of the office until September This is a mistake. Mr S assumes the duties of his office to-day

B. R. CLUB.—The East Portland Vindicator says "The meeting of the Blue Ribbon Club was well attended, and after the opening exercises were made by different ones including Mr Henry and Mr McDougal of Portland. A motion for a petition, asking the board of trustees to close all business houses on Sunday was referred to a committee composed of the following named persons H Stumbo, J W Weber, Mrs. Dr C B Smith and Mrs. Williams"

LIGHTHOUSE STONES.—A short distance above the foot of L street, in East Portland several hundred blocks of stone, intended for the lighthouse on Tillamook Rock, can be seen partly buried in the sand. These blocks were covered with sand during the last freshet They are a loss to the contractor as they cannot be raised now A large lot of these blocks are now at Albina, awaiting shipment to Astoria. Over 4000 blocks of stone have already been shipped away

CRUSHED TO DEATH.—A man named Keith, who has been employed at Grant's mill on the Columbia, was accidentally killed on the 18th by a tree falling on him The body was badly crushed. On Friday the remains were brought to the Dalles on the boat for the purpose of affording a Christian burial under the auspices of the Catholic church The body was taken in charge at the landing by Rev Father Gandon, of that diocese

SALMON EXPORTS.—On the last trip to San Francisco the Oregon railway and navigation company's steamer Columbia took from Astoria, 2011 cases, 160 bbls., 43 hf bbls and 68 kits of salmon. The Elder Friday took away 2,67 cases, 151 bbls., 95 hf bbls and 81 kits She also had considerable wheat and a quantity of railroad iron which is to be taken to San Francisco and be rolled over

RELEASED.—"Dublin" who in a fit of jealous rage shot his wife some time ago, and who was tried in the state circuit court and sentenced to the county jail for 100 days was discharged from custody last Saturday morning his term of sentence having expired During his incarceration "Dublin" was a "trusty" and rendered himself useful about the jail in many ways

INSANE PATIENTS.—A few days ago Mr Geo P Wrenn, of Corvallis arrived here having in charge an insane man named Baumgartner. At times the patient was very violent. Saturday afternoon Sheriff Withrow, of Lane county arrived here having in charge M. M. Gillespie an insane patient The unfortunate person was committed to the asylum.

THE GRANT CUP.

A QUARREL AND TWO RACES

The Maple Leaf Crew Row over the Course Alone and are Followed by the Portland and Willamette Boats—The Facts in the Case

Saturday was the day set for the Grant cup regatta but greatly to the disappointment of the large crowd assembled to witness it there was no race for the cup. The facts of the matter are these

Two or three days before the race the Portland rowing association entered a crew consisting of Hatch stroke Whiting bow Hunton 2 and Stratton 3 The Maple Leaf club entered a crew as follows Allen stroke Loggie bow 2 and Seely The Willamette rowing club did not formally enter a crew until the time of the race

The Portland rowing association filed with the referee and judges a written protest against Mr Seely rowing because he being under the rules a professional every man who took part in the race against him would thereby become a professional and be barred from all amateur races The Willamettes also made similar protest. The matter of the protest was not decided until just before the time set for the race when the judges decided that the cup was open to all comers and that the Maple Leaf crew might go in the race. The only alternative then left for the P R A and Willamette crews was to remain out of the race or to go into it and become professionals It was suggested that the crews go in and row under protest but they considered that knowing beforehand that Mr Seely was a professional their protest would not save them If that matter were in doubt the protest might answer but not when they were fully advised beforehand

Promptly on time the City of Salem having on board the referee, judges members of the press and a large number of spectators steamed down to the starting line at Pine street In a few moments the crew of the P R A in their paper shell came out from their boat house at the foot of Taylor street and moved down to the line

Mr Stoddard the captain of the P R A called the crew up alongside of the steamer and informed them of the judges decision and told them that they knew the penalty they would incur by rowing in the race and that he would not order them to go but would leave it to them to pull or not just as they desired Mr Whiting captain of the crew replied that if such was the judges decision they would not row as they did not wish to become professionals The P R A crew then went off up the river toward their house. Capt Stoddard then entered a protest with the judges against the Maple Leaf crew taking the cup

The Maple Leaf crew now came out and pulled around toward the East Portland side. Just as they came opposite the steamer the stroke oar broke square off at the end of the blade The crew asked time of the referee to procure another oar, which was granted and they went back to the boat house. About this time a written communication was handed to the judges stating that Willamette entered a crew for the race but that they would row under protest The letter did not give the names of the crew Capt. McDonald captain of the club was called up to furnish these By this time the Willamette crew had come from their boat house down to the line The crew was Grant stroke J Dunbar bow T Dunbar 2 and Dick 3 The Maple Leaf crew now came back with another oar and the toss was made for position The Willamettes won and chose the Portland course

The referee then called the crews into position and instructed them that they should turn from east to west. Mr Grant the captain of the Willamettes called the attention of the referee to the fact that all the crews were not in position he evidently thinking that the P R A crew who were resting on their oars as spectators some two or three hundred yards up the river were to take part in the race Some one informed him that the P R A crew were not going The referee then called out Mr Starter give them two minutes and any crew not then in position cannot go in the race A quick word of command was heard from the Willamette boat and they glided from their place and rowed rapidly up to their boat house thus leaving the Maple Leaf crew alone in position

At the expiration of the two minutes they were started and pulled up the course the steamer following in their wake On reaching the stake buoy they turned it in the wrong direction and started back but on coming opposite the boat Mr Creighton the president of the Maple Leaf Club informed them of their mistake and ordered them to go back and turn right. They stopped and went back and turned properly then rowed down to the starting point Time 24 minutes and 50 seconds.

Capt. Stoddard entered a protest against Mr Creighton's ordering back his crew claiming he had no right to do so

As soon as the Maple Leaf crew had thus gone over the course the Willamette and P R A. crews came into position for a friendly race They got a fair start and went up the river in good trim Just after turning the stake the sliding seat of the stroke in the P R A boat broke and from that on the Willamettes had it their own way coming in four or five hundred yards ahead The tracks on which the seat slides became wrenched out of place allowing the seat to drop through and fasten itself at the back end of the slide leaving the stroke unable to pull to any effect. We regret very much that this accident occurred for it spoiled what would have been one of the most closely contested races ever had on the river After going over the course as above, the Maple Leaf club, for some reason or other again pulled over it—perhaps to avoid any question over turning the stake wrong the first time

There was much dissatisfaction expressed by the spectators on account of not seeing a race for the cup. The Maple Leaf club are severely blamed by the Willamettes and Portland rowing association for spoiling the regatta Mr Seely should have been withdrawn from the crew and some one substituted. Mr Joyce stood ready to take the place and he had informed one of the crew that he would do so if necessary to have the race.

The Portland rowing association and Willamettes claim that no competent crew pulled for the cup Saturday, and the Portland rowing association who now hold the cup intend turning it over to the Grant committee by whom it was given and allow them to decide what shall be done with it.

If the committee decide that it is open to professionals, then the Maple Leaf crew will get it, but this will virtually prevent any further contest for it by our local crews for they would have to win it from professionals We are very sorry indeed that the regatta of Saturday was such a failure for we fear it will have the effect to injure boating interests in the community

OUR EASTERN EMPIRE.

Progress of Business and Settlement in the Upper Columbia Basin in Eastern Oregon and Washington—The Outlook of Farming.

BY REV. G. H. ATKINSON.

SPOKAN FALLS, W. T., Aug. 16, 1880.

The farm leads all other industries in this region. It was stock raising a few years ago. Forty years ago the hunter and trapper brought furs—the only merchantable product—to market. In those days, this vast region of grass-covered hills and plains and deep canyons and broad valleys, was roamed over by Indian tribes and lonely hunters with very little idea of its fitness for the quiet homes of settlers and the sites of pleasant villages, and thriving cities. Rev. C. Eells says that while on his journeys with Rev. S. Walker, his fellow missionary, and their families, over these high plains from 1838 to 1848, they often noticed the rich grasses, and that Mr. Walker spoke of the deep soil and its productive power. But even this intelligent gentleman failed to foresee the value of soil and climate, which are now plain to see. Mr. Marcus Whitman perceived the vast resources of Oregon as a whole, including Idaho, Oregon and Washington and resolved to save it to the United States; but his location on the low lands of the Walla Walla valley, shows that he did not know the value of the upper benches and hills for the production of the cereals as well as the natural grasses which are kindred plants.

The growth of bunch grass proves that wheat, oats and barley will also grow and thrive in the same soil. The dry sage brush even requires a large amount of water and finds it in the earth loosened by its roots.

THE AMOUNT OF INVISIBLE VAPOR IN SUMMER.

The air in the upper Columbia basin in summer is heated to a higher degree than the air west of the Cascade mountains. The mountains and forests of Western Oregon and Washington cool the ocean winds, and condense their moisture in to fogs, clouds, mists and rains; hence our heated periods last only three or four days at a time. The same ocean winds rush through the passes and over the mountains to fill the vacuum caused by the intense heat in this upper basin. They carry immense bodies of invisible vapor, and bring comfort to men and animals in the hottest days. As these winds pass the mountains the clouds are hung over the eastern slope as their signal banners. Fifty miles inland these clouds disappear and the sky is clear and apparently vaporless, but the fact is exactly the reverse. It is filled up with larger and larger quantities of these ocean vapors.

THE AIR IS LIKE AN IMMENSE SPONGE.

Its power to hold vapor invisibly increases in exact measure with its increase of heat. This power decreases as heat decreases. Whatever cools the air condenses its vapor. The higher the hills or the mountains, the greater the condensation. Mountains, ponds and lakes are possible because the mountains silently, and chiefly at night, condense the vapors and keep these filled from these aerial fountains. Brooks and rivers are possible in summer from the same cause. The common, yet erroneous idea has been, that the mountains and hills and lands generally are sponges, holding waters, which falls in winter for the summer supply of springs, brooks, wells, streams, ponds, lakes and rivers; and when the water of this vast earth-sponge runs out they must be resupplied by winter snows and rains. But the air is the true sponge which absorbs the vapors, raised by heat from all the surfaces, yet chiefly from the tropical ocean belt. All the lands could not hold water enough to supply half a summer. All streams and fountains would be dry in a month if the process of condensation should cease for a month. Air loaded with vapor and kept in motion by the earth's revolution replenishes all the lands and fountains and lakes and rivers continually. The more it is heated the greater is its capacity to hold vapor and the larger is the amount which it does hold. Heat an oven to 200° or 300° and its air will absorb gallons of water and still be clear. Cool it and mists will form and then drop, and the floor, roof and sides of the oven will drip with moisture. Hot steam is invisible as it strikes the air, and visible in cloud as it is cooled. This power of air to absorb and hold vapor when heated and discharge it when cooled, is the key which unlocks the wealth of agricultural, pasture and forest lands. Summer heats invite these ocean vapors to all the coasts and interior lands and coolers condense them to nourish all vegetation.

THE PLOUGH A CONDENSER.

Every year the area of farms extends east of the mountains. The soil turned and made light and spongy by the plough absorbs the hot air, laden with its invisible vapor, and cools and deposits a part of this vapor, which moistens the dusty fields and gardens; and these green fields of grain and vegetables flank the dry unploughed plains. Wherever the plough breaks the clod and pulverizes the soil, these belts and squares of luxuriant vegetation greet the eye even in this driest of summers. Passing from Umatilla to Pendleton dust and drouth mark the way. The large area ploughed and sown in spring on new land will no doubt yield larger harvests if sown in autumn. Farms south of Wild Horse creek in Umatilla county, show what vast harvests can be raised on the present dry plains of the reservation, when once put under the plough. Walla Walla and Columbia counties have promising crops. Whitman and Spokan counties increase their grain area. Green fields and trees have become condensers and these increase their own vigor of growth. Below Almota a strip of green, like oats or wheat, was noticed stretching far up the bluff. It proved to be weeds that had sprung up in the dusty trail made by the Indian ponies. On both sides the ground was dry and the bunch grass brown with drouth. Along the north side of Deep creek, in Spokan county, is a small colony of Indian farmers, led by William Three Mountains, who was formerly an inmate, instructed in Rev. E. Walker's family, missionary of the Spokans. The plains are dry and the ground parched, but the fields of wheat, oats, potatoes, peas, beans and other vegetables are of luxuriant green. The plough had made the difference. Outside his garden he ran a few furrows in new ground. Weeds have sprung up and made a patch of green that might have been oats or wheat as well. All these signal spots of cultivation mark what the whole country can be made by the plough on the hills and the valleys from the Cascades to the Cœur d'Alene mountains. This dry season stands as a test for the future.

FALL SOWING.

Wheat should be sowed on deep and well pulverized ground in the fall. No matter how dusty and dry the fields, the seed will grow and stool and root far better, and give a larger and better harvest and stock and berry.

WALLA WALLA.

This thriving city is a type of the business life of the upper country. Farming and stock raising have paid, and the funds appear in new and larger and finer stores and dwellings and public improvements. There is faith in the soil and climate and in the future of the upper country. The brown hills of this dry summer disappoint strangers, but the test of past seasons and of many fields and gardens assure the people of seed time and harvest with few if any failures.

PESTS.

Crickets took some fields for two or three years and then passed away. The same fields now have an abundant crop of the cereals. Grasshoppers have thinned some patches of grain and some gardens and left others untouched. Both are expected, perhaps next year the latter will come in clouds, and then disappear for long intervals.

Ground squirrels have been great destroyers, but the fields most injured last year by them seem this year to have escaped their ravages.

SECURITY.

To avoid drouth and gain larger crops the lesson of this and of past years enforces the wisdom of fall sowing. Some spring grain on fallow ground, of fine tilth, looks even, yet stalk and head are rather short. Winter grain on like soil stools better, grows more rank, ripens early and seems to escape the pests. Such fields appeared in Umatilla county, Oregon, and in Whitman and Spokan counties, Washington territory. The light soils are no bar to fall sowing. These soils will absorb the air, condense its vapor, sprout the seed in autumn, give wider and better feeding ground for roots, and thus more nutriment to stock and heads of grain. The law of all manner of growth is abundance of food. Plants must be fed. Roots must have room in loose, finely pulverized soil. Clods and baked dry crusty ground forbid plant-life. The more the heat, the more ploughing, harrowing and hoeing are required to insure good crops. The Illinois farmer who ran his cultivator through his dusty fields of corn many times during six weeks in which no rain fell, had a crop of 40 bushels per acre, while his neighbors' fields, untilled during the drouth, yielded only ten bushels per acre. The former had moisture enough from the air, absorbed with its vapors condensed in the porous soil. The latter was baked and of little value to plants. In the Pine creek valley near Rosalia I saw three rows of wheat or oats in a garden cultivated like rows of peas or corn. The growth was most luxuriant. Its only irrigation was from the air, yet the day was hot and road dusty and the bunch grass hills brown and parched with drouth. The signs of good cultivation everywhere were fine gardens and green fields.

RAILROADS.

The bar to farming has been the lack of transportation. Mr. DeShields near Spangle, Spokan county, remarked that until last year he could not decide whether to hold on to his fine farm or leave it. Eight long years he had waited in hope of relief from the N. P. R. R. Now it is in progress, and his fields have been sown and his crops promise well. Fifteen miles to Depot springs will be a short trip per day for his team to carry a ton of wheat or oats. The N. P. R. R. has settled the question of farming and homes in that upper country.

In a few months more it will be finished and the trains will be running to Spokan Falls. The grading is mostly finished except a few gaps. The O. R. & N. Company's lines are pushed on through Oregon and south eastern Washington even more rapidly. The standard gauge is to be the rule in all these upper roads and their branches. The grades from The Dalles to Wallula will not exceed 26 feet per mile, and the elevation above the river will not be over 101 feet at any point. The same grades and height will be held on the route from The Dalles to Portland. The entire route up the Columbia will be particularly a level road, so that trains of 40 or 50 cars can be taken along by a single engine. This will reduce the cost of transportation to a minimum. This line will be for grades like that along the Hudson river. In fact the interior rivers have made the way for the railroads. The N. P. R. R. route to Spokan Falls, is through two coulees or dry beds of old rivers. Branch roads must wind their way mostly along the course of smaller streams. Down from the hills and plains to these outlets will flow the annual harvests from thousands of fields and up these well cut avenues will be borne in all directions the merchandise of commerce.

THE FOUR MEDICAL LAKES

These have become a resort, especially Silver Lake, the largest of the group. They are 17 miles west of Spokan Falls, and about 10 miles north west of Depot Springs on the line of the N. P. R. R. The testimony is that the waters relieve and in some cases cure the rheumatism; prove an antidote to some kinds of blood poisons and eruptions and give energy to languid nerves. The danger is of excess of bathing. Man is neither an amphibious nor even an aquatic animal—it is abnormal for a well man to go often or stay long in water. Too much bathing will weaken a strong man. How much more will it reduce a weak one?

INDIAN TROUBLES.

These alarms grow out of the sale of whisky to Indians. Twice within a week the danger of a fight, and of course war occurred at Spokan Falls. The Spokan Indians have not been included in any treaty and have not been paid for their lands like other tribes. They feel this injust discrimination against them and it calls for attention from the authorities, lest in the moment of passion, the wrong should breed a quarrel. Settlers and railroad grants on unbought lands may be the match to kindle the raging fire. Rev. H. T. Cowley, their teacher is daily mediating for peace and for equity.

Why Independents will not Vote for Hancock.

[From the Boston Herald, Ind.]

We wish to have some light thrown upon the method General Hancock would adopt in handling the questions that are now uppermost in men's minds; not what he would do if he had been president five terms or three terms ago. Would he or would he not veto a bill that had a tendency to unduly inflate the currency? Would he favor or oppose a reform in the present tariff? How would he settle the antagonism that is growing up between the federal and the state courts? In what way would he maintain the right of every citizen to vote and have his vote honestly counted? What would he do as president to reform the civil service? To these and similar demands for intelligence General Hancock makes not the slightest response. This is a fatal error; all the more so that the party of which he is the candidate has no sustained record on which the public can depend. It has been on one side of the fence at one convention, and vaulted completely over it before the next. It has favored free trade and protection, hard money and soft money; a continuance in office during good behavior, and a division of the spoils among the victors; a free and honest ballot, and a shotgun campaign. Which of these alternatives will they take up if they get into power? No one can tell, for there is no administrative record to appeal to. If General Hancock is too timid to lay out a civil policy for his party, those who vote for him will be simply taking a leap in the dark. It may result satisfactorily to the country, and it may be just the reverse. Both the good and evil of Mr Garfield's administration could be predicated in advance; while of General Hancock's nothing can be predicated, except that, from his unwillingness to speak, it may be judged that he is influenced by men who are much more likely to go wrong than to go right.

A Eulogy of Lincoln.

[From the Boston Traveller, July 22.]

"Brevity is wit," said the adage, and it does not make a bad dress for wisdom. We have rarely if ever seen an estimate of a great historic character expressed in so terse a manner, and yet present so full length a portrait thereof, as that recently made by Governor Boutwell of the lamented Abraham Lincoln. The governor received a few days since the following letter:

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 16, 1880.

Hon George S. Boutwell, Groton, Mass—DEAR SIR: Will you please write upon the enclosed sheet your sentiments on the life and services of Abraham Lincoln?

This collection is to be placed in the memorial hall of Lincoln monument.

Responses have been received from many eminent men of this and other countries.

Awaiting your answer, I am very respectfully,
O. H. OLDNYD.

In reply, he returned the following terse lines:

President Lincoln excelled all his contemporaries, as he also excelled most of the eminent rulers of every time, in the humanity of his nature, in the constant assertion of reason over passion and feeling, in the art of dealing with men, in fortitude, never disturbed by adversity, in capacity for delay when action was fraught with peril, in the power of immediate and resolute decision when delays were dangerous, in comprehensive judgment which forecasts the final and best opinion of nations and of posterity, and in the union of enlarged patriotism, wise philanthropy and the highest political justice by which he was enabled to save a nation and to emancipate a race.

THE CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

The Bulls Having a Deal with Corn—Wheat and Oats.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CHICAGO, Aug 21.—The grain markets have been rather excited and the tendency has been strongly up during the whole of the past week. This was noticeably so of corn and oats. The advance in these cereals was out of all proportion to that of wheat. The discouraging reports from the corn regions was the cause of the flurry, and later reports are not much more favorable, for the drought continues so severe, that many fields are partly or wholly ruined. That the great body of the corn crop is much damaged, is by no means likely, and when the bulls have had their way the bears will doubtless take a turn. The present rise is quite natural in as much as the long depression in prices has given some operators, one in particular in the Chicago market, an opportunity to get large amounts of corn at low prices and they are now doing their best to put the price up. They are opposed by a heavy clique on the other side also. The tremendous receipts of corn continue unabated and were it not for the readiness of the British market to take all the corn offered prices here should have been at the bottom now instead of very near the top as they appear to be. Wheat is strong, but only in sympathy with corn. Provisions have also been exciting and always tending higher. Sales for the week of the September option were: wheat, 85¾@90⅝c; corn, 37⅞@41c; oats, 23⅝@27. Receipts for the week were: wheat 532,000; corn, 2,743,000; oats, 615,000. Shipments: wheat, 434,000; corn, 2,423,000; oats, 419,000. The stock in store has increased about a half a million bushels, and just at present is not moving very fast. The receipts of wheat were a little larger in 1879; those of corn a million and a quarter less and oats about the same.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Wheat—Strong, higher and unsettled; 89c cash, 89⅝ for September, 90⅝ for October.

Liverpool Breadstuffs Market.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 20.—A leading grain circular says: The enormous wheat shipments from America, and the favorable aspect of the home market, keep trade exceedingly dull, and cause an almost entire absence of business in wheat, and all positions have further declined. The spot and neighboring market since Tuesday are 2d lower. Transactions have been of quite a retail character. Corn is less plentiful, and a penny dearer. At the Essex market there was an average attendance, and a fair business was done. White spring and red wheat were unchanged. Winter red sold at 1@2d decline. Flour was in moderate demand and unchanged. Corn, in the presence of limited shipments from America, partially recovered from Tuesday's decline.

Boston Wool Market.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—The wool market continues quiet. There are comparatively few buyers, who mostly purchase in small lots. The principal demand runs on delaine and combing selections, all desirable meeting with ready sales, and prices are quite steady and firm. Washed fleeces continue quiet. California wool is in moderate demand. Pulled wools move slowly and prices are unchanged. For foreign wool there is more inquiry, and carpet wools are in demand. Valley Oregon, 30@35c; spring California, 25@30c; fall, 20@22c.

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast,

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Swallowing POISON

Spurts of disgusting mucous from the nostrils or upon the tonsils, Watery Eyes, Snuffles, Buzzing in the Ears, Deafness, Crackling sensations in the Head, Intermittent Pains over the Eyes, Fœtid Breath, Nasal Twang, Scabs in the Nostrils, and Tickling in the Throat are

SIGNS of CATARRH.

No other such loathsome, treacherous and undermining malady curses mankind. One-fifth of our Children die of diseases generated by its Infectious Poison, and one-fourth of living men and women drag out miserable existences from the same cause. While asleep, the impurities in the nostrils are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs to poison every part of the system.

Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure absorbs the purulent virus and kills the seeds of poison in the farthest parts of the system. It will not only relieve, but certainly cure Catarrh at any stage. It is the only remedy which in our judgment, has ever yet really cured a case of Chronic Catarrh.

Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure is the most important medical discovery since vaccination. It is sold by all Druggists, or delivered by D. B. DEWEY & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y., at $1.50 a package. To clubs, six packages for $7.50. Dr. Wei De Meyer's Treatise is sent free to anybody.

DR. SPINNEY

No. 11 Kearny Street

Treats all Chronic and Special Diseases

YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING FROM THE effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Office hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sundays from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5. Call or address

P. S.—For private diseases of short standing a full course of medicine, sufficient for a cure, with all instructions, will be sent to any address on receipt of $10.
